Here you will find the breathtaking nature.

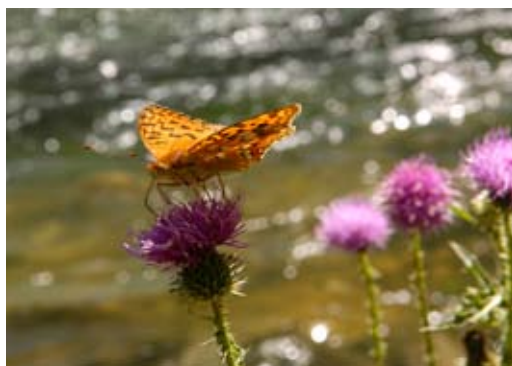

Ovdje je i prirodni raj nacionalnog parka UNA

PRVI NACIONALNI PARK u Federaciji Bosne i Hercegovine zove se po rijeci Uni i gotovo u cjelosti se prostire na području općine Bihać. Posjetiti ovaj park neprocjenjivo je iskustvo za sva čula.

Smaragdna rijeka Una dominira cijelim bihaćkim krajem, a prostire se u dužini od 80 kilometara. Bogata je slapovima i vodopadima, brzacima i prava je poslastica ljubiteljima ekstremnih sportova, raftinga i ronjenja.

Ona je stanište za oko 170 različitih vrsta ljekovitih biljaka od kojih je jedna vrlo rijetka i dobila je ime upravo po rijeci Uni – Campanile unensis – unska zvončica. Tridesetak vrsta riba, i veliki broj riječnih rakova koji žive samo u čistoj vodi, pravi su raj za ribolovce. Posebno je zanimljiva čovječja ribica koju nalazimo u slivu Une, u podzemnim vodama Grmeča.

Flora i fauna Nacionalnog parka
Flora and fauna of National Park

Here is the natural heaven of the National Park Una

NATIONAL PARK UNA is the first proclaimed national park in the Federation of Bosnia and Herzegovina and it was named after the Una River. Most of it spreads within the area of Bihac Municipality. Visiting this national park is an invaluable experience for all your senses.

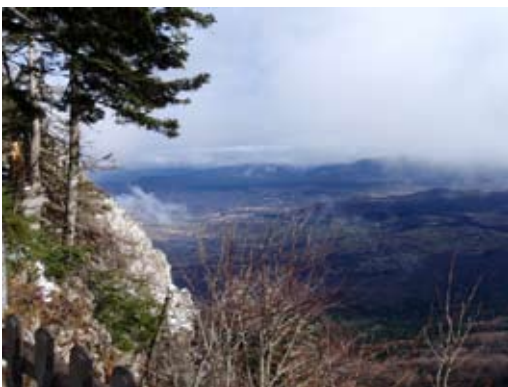

This emerald river dominates the entire area of Bihac and spreads in the length of 80 kilometers. Una is rich with waterfalls, cascades and currents and represents a real challenge to the lovers of extreme sports, rafting and diving.

Una is a home of 170 different medicinal herbs, one of which is very rare and was named after the river – Campanile Unesis – the Bell of Una. Over thirty different sorts of fish and great number of river crabs, which only inhabit clear water, live in the Una River and are a real thrill for the fishermen. Proteus anguinus (Olm), a blind amphibian endemic, is especially interesting and can be found in the basin of the Una, in the underground water of Grmec Mountain.

THE MOUNTAINS Pljesevica and Grmec are the observatory points of the Bihac basin and their proximity to the city offers an opportunity to enjoy the walks, mountain hiking, biking and hunting. The mountains are rich with deer, wild boars, bears, wolves, foxes, pheasants and black grouses. Picnic ground Sabina Greda on Pljesevica Mountain is on an altitude of 1225m, where you will experience a unique view of the Bihac basin.

PLANINE PLJEŠEVICE I GRMEČA su vidikovci bihačke kotline, a njihova blizina omogućuje šetnje, ali i užitek u planinarenju, biciklizmu ili lovu. Bogate su srnama, divljim svinjama, medvjedima, vukovima, lisicama, te fazanima i tetrijebima. Izletište Šabina Greda na Plješevici je na nadmorskoj visini od 1225 m, odakle se pruža jedinstven pogled na veći dio bihačke kotline.

Bogatstvo prošlosti vidljivo je na svakom koraku...

Na ovom području je locirano i obilje kulturno-historijskih spomenika.

CRKVA SV. ANTUNA građena je krajem XIX stoljeća, a završena 1894. u maniru zapadno-europskog eklekticizma. Uz toranj crkve je i veliki kameni sarkofag, ukrašen kamenom plastikom i heraldikom. Smatra se da je sagrađena na lokaciji gdje je i bila jedna od porušenih srednjovjekovnih bihaćkih crkava. Katolička crkva u Bihaću spada u red onih sakralnih građevina čiji se tipovi mogu sresti širom sjeverozapadnog dijela Hrvatske. Crkva Sv. Antuna je devastirana u toku II svjetskog rata. Od crkve je ostao samo toranj pored zidanog turbeta (mauzoleja).

FETHIJA DŽAMIJA. Jedina je europska islamska bogomolja u gotičkom stilu. Najočuvanija je sakralna građevina na ovim prostorima.

Sagrađena je prvobitno kao crkva svetog Antuna Padovanskog krajem XIII i početkom XIV stoljeća. Dolaskom Turaka na ove prostore i osvajanjem posljednje utvrde u Pounju - Bihaća (1592.godine), crkva se preuređuje u glavnu džamiju u gradu i dobiva naziv Fethija (u prijevodu - osvojena).

Crkva Sv. Ante / The Church of St. Antun

Historic wealth is visible at every corner...

There are plethora of cultural and historic monuments in the Bihać area.

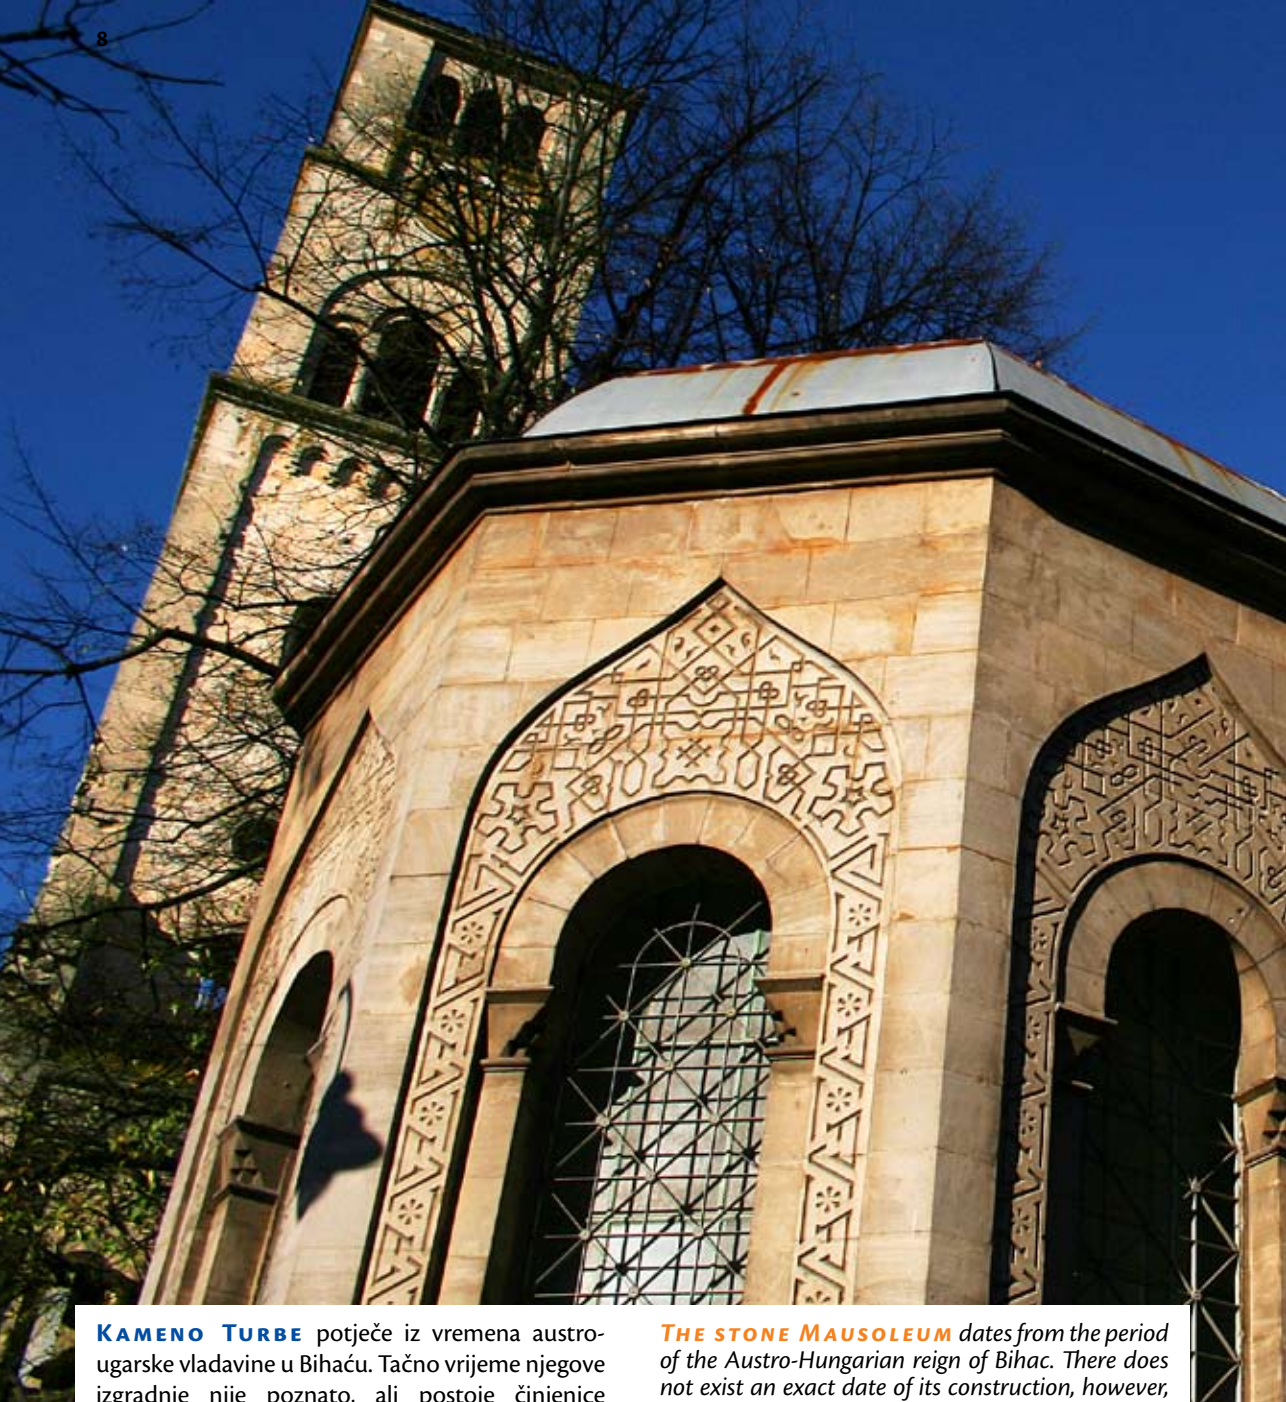

THE CHURCH OF ST. ANTUN was built at the end of XIX century, and was finished in 1894 in a West-European eclectic style. Next to the church tower is a large stone sarcophagus decorated with stone plastic and heraldic. It is said that this church was built in a location where previously stood one of the ruined medieval churches of Bihać. This Catholic Church is one of those types of religious buildings that can be found in the wider region of North-West Croatia. The Church of St. Antun was devastated during the World War II and today you can only see the tower next to which is a mausoleum.

FETHIJA MOSQUE is the only European Islamic construction built in gothic style. It is the best preserved religious building in this area. Fethija was firstly built as a church of St. Antun Padovanski at the end of XIII and beginning of the XIV century. With arrival of the Turks in this area and their conquering of the last fortress in Pounje – Bihać in 1592, this church was converted into a main mosque in the city, which is when it was named Fethija – meaning the conquered.

KAMENO TURBE potječe iz vremena austro-ugarske vladavine u Bihaću. Tačno vrijeme njegove izgradnje nije poznato, ali postoje činjenice da je nastalo odmah nakon ustoličenja nove austro-ugarske vlasti. Za vrijeme turske vladavine izgrađeno je originalno od drveta i nalazilo se na mjestu porušene katoličke crkve. Kada je nova vlast krenula s izgradnjom crkve na starim temeljima, sagrađeno je i novo turbe od lokalnog kvalitetnog kamena bihacita. Nova lokacija je od stare bila udaljena samo nekoliko metara, a taj potez vlasti zadovoljio je i muslimanski i katolički živalj Bihaća. Sve do danas se sačuvalo nekoliko legendi o njegovom nastanku i o tome ko je sahranjen u njemu.

THE STONE MAUSOLEUM dates from the period of the Austro-Hungarian reign of Bihać. There does not exist an exact date of its construction, however, the facts allude that it was probably built right upon the establishment of the new Austro-Hungarian authority in this area. During the Turkish reign it was originally built of wood and was located at a place where used to exist a destroyed Catholic church. When the new authority started to build a church, at a location where an old one existed, they also built a new mausoleum from the local stone "Bihacit". New location of the mausoleum was just a few meters away from the old one, and this move of the authorities was acceptable for the Muslim and Catholic population of Bihać. There are a few legends about the Mausoleum and who is buried within.

KAPETANOVA KULA. Prema legendi koja je dijelom utemeljena i na historijskim činjenicama, Kapetanova kula – Bihaćka utvrda, spasila je život ugarsko-hrvatskom kralju Beli IV od tatarskih konjanika. Bihać se prvi put pominje 1260. godine u povelji kralja Bele IV, kao grad sagrađen na otoku Sv. Ladislava, a godine 1262. proglašen je slobodnim kraljevskim gradom sa svim pravima što mu je osiguralo samostalni razvoj. Danas je Kapetanova kula Muzej Unsko-sanskog kantona s eksponatima iz vremena japodskih plemena.

CAPITAN'S TOWER. According to an old legend, which is partially supported by historic facts, Kapetanova kula (Capitan's Tower) – Fortress of Bihać, saved a life of the Hungarian-Croatian King Bela IV from the Tartar horsemen troops. Bihać is mentioned for the first time in 1260 in the Charter of the King Bela IV, as a city built on the Island of St. Ladislav. In 1262 the city was proclaimed a free royal city with all the rights that guaranteed it an independent development. Today the Capitan's Tower is a Museum of the Una-Sana Canton with a display of the Japodi tribe.

Zgrada Krajinina puteva / Krajinina putevi buliding

ZGRADA KRAJINA PUTEVA. Bivši građevinski ured u Bihaću sagrađen je 1916. godine prema projektu austrijskog arhitekta Ludwiga Hubera. Poput mnogih javnih zgrada i ova je bila projektirana u skladnom stilu ponovnog procvata renesanse karakterističnom za habzburške građevine širom carstva. Glavna fasada objekta naročito je dobro očuvana.

MUZEJ PRVOG ZASJEDANJA AVNOJ-A. Muzej pripada prvoj kategoriji spomenika borbe protiv fašizma. Osnivačko i prvo zasjedanje AVNOJ-a tu je održano 27. novembra 1942. godine.

Na području Bihaća nalazi se više srednjovjekovnih gradova od kojih izdvajamo: SOKOLAČKA KULA, ORAŠAC, HAVALA I OSTROVICA u Kulen Vakufu.

Ostrovica

Muzej Prvog zasjedanja AVNOJ-a

Museum of the 1st Assembly of AVNOJ (Anti-Fascist Council for the People's Liberation of Yugoslavia)

KRAJINA PUTEVI BUILDING was the office of architecture of Bihać, built in 1916, modeled by the design of the Austrian architect, Ludwig Huber. As many other public buildings it was built in a style of revived renaissance specific for the Hapsburg buildings across the Empire. The façade of the building is well preserved.

MUSEUM of the 1st Assembly of AVNOJ falls within the first category of monuments that symbolize the fight against fascism. Founding and First Assembly of the Anti-Fascist Council for the People's Liberation of Yugoslavia was held here on November 27, 1942.

There exist many medieval cities in the Bihać area, some of which are: SOKOLAC TOWER, ORASAC, HAVALA and OSTROVICA in Kulen Vakuf.
